

Hello Everyone

It has been 2 weeks since the conference. There was a lot of great feedback about how well organized things were. That is a tribute to each of you for pitching in and getting the jobs done that needed doing.

To those of you who came and helped fill the goodie bags: it was so great to have the task handled so quickly and easily and with some fun and laughter as an added bonus.

To those of you who helped with registration and the ton of small tasks that needed doing throughout the day, it was wonderful to know that people noticed and appreciated that things flowed smoothly and easily. Acting as guides and introducing speakers in the spots where I couldn't be, unloading vehicles in the early morning, filling balloons, selling tickets, and the list goes on. All were important tasks that contributed to the success of the day.

There were also the people who put posters up during the summer. The feedback told us that many attending came because a poster caught their attention.

All the organization in the world is only as good as the number of people who are willing to pitch in and make it happen. Thank you to each of you for pitching in and making it happen. It was a wonderful and successful day.
